

LEATHER LOVE

PHOTOGRAPHY JASON HARTOG

THE PLACE: Stylish and durable, leather furniture offers beauty and comfort that only improves with age. Rawhide, a custom leather and upholstery furniture manufacturer, uses quality top- and full-grain leathers sourced from premium tanneries around the world. The company stands behind their product with a lifetime warranty on hardwood frames, coils and metal springs. Choose from dozens of styles and customize the colour, size and foam density for the perfect piece.

THE SHOWROOM: The Mississauga showroom serves as inspiration for those looking to find the right piece for their space. Owner Rick McIntosh passionately educates customers on the difference between top-grain, full-hide leather and the cheaper alternatives. Manufactured in their own local facility, a custom piece of furniture is unique, affordable and built to stand the test of time.

FAVOURITES: The Cowboy sofa is a popular seller. Rich brown leather, rolled arms and nail-head trim work perfectly in any office, living room or den. Sink into comfort with the more contemporary stylings of The Lancer sofa.

THE DIFFERENCE: Rick loves to work with customers who come in with their own ideas. He also loves surprising them with the inexpensive price tag – often at half the price of other custom furniture stores. His favourite pieces have come from working with couples who vary dramatically in height – creating furniture that is comfortable for both. He’s even helped couples who wanted their “spots” on the sofa to differ in firmness. Anything is possible at Rawhide.

WHAT’S UNIQUE: Tight doorways, narrow hallways and hard-to-reach basements are no problem for Rawhide. Modular designs allow custom sectionals to fit any space, down to the inch. A variety of finishes, like stitching and nail-head trim, create a truly unique, finished piece.
